Executions continue for preventing the spread of the uprising in the horror of regime's downfall

More than 8 months have passed since the death of Mahsa Amini, and public protests are continuing with the aim of overthrowing the Mullah's regime. In the early days of the uprising, the religious fascists ruling Iran, have killed 750 people, and over 700 people were injured and blinded with shotguns and more than 30,000 people were arrested

But the news we hear, its about the continuation of the protests, and this is the main reason of regime's executions, to stop the uprising.

The Mullah's regime, in the last months, has started to hold public hearings, the accused were arrested without a lawyer behind closed doors, and the judges ordered the security apparatus to issue an execution order for the protestors. During the current month, more than 100 people were executed in different cities of Iran, and hundreds of other execution orders were issued. The international community should not only punish these crimes but also take serious political decisions to prevent medieval crimes in Iran. The regime of Iran for the past 44 years has proven that it does not intend to reform, and acts of terror and executions have been carried out more and more, even against western policies.

We demand that EU makes all political and economic relations with the government of Iran conditioned on respect for human rights and the freedom of political prisoners.

We want the EU to condemn the recent executions in Iran and the murder of 30,000 political prisoners in 1988.
